

Starting from a discussion of the meaning of “rite,” this course will give an overview of the periods of the development of the Roman liturgy, surveying particularly important historical and documentary landmarks. With the aim of understanding the current state of the Roman rite, students will be introduced to methods of liturgical studies which contextualize the traits and various developments of the rite, helping them articulate the Church’s guardianship and exercise of the sacred liturgy. 2 credits or audit. Synchronous online or in-person, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. PDT. Taught by Fr. Nicholas Schneider.
